STORY OF WOODFORD COUNTY

Just northeast of the Peoria metropolitan area, on the Illinois River, lie the level, fertile, productive acres of Woodford County, a region noted for its historic Metamora Courthouse and for its century-old Eureka College. Here, also, is the Woodford County Public Hunting and Fishing Grounds, an area of almost 3,000 acres along the Illinois River set aside for hunters and fishermen.

An architectural as well as historical shrine, the old, white, classic Metamora Courthouse, in Woodford County's early county seat town of Metamora, is one of the few surviving Illinois courthouses in which Abraham Lincoln appeared as a lawyer. It is also associated with other great lawyers and judges of the time, among them Stephen A. Douglas, Robert Ingersoll and Adlai E. Stevenson (grandfather of the Democratic candidate for President in 1952).

Although such cities and towns of the county as Minonk, Eureka, Roanoke, Metamora and El Paso produce a sizable quantity of manufactured goods and materials, Woodford County is mainly an agricultural locality. Latest published figures of the United States census show that in 1950 the value of all farm products sold in Woodford County (crops, livestock, poultry, dairy products) amounted to $16,113,000, whereas the value of its manufactured materials and articles amounted to a little less than $1,500,000. The same figures revealed that the county contained 31,173 head of cattle and calves of all ages, and that 30.5 per cent of its total employed persons were engaged in agriculture.

MARQUETTE AND JOLLIET

First white men to view the site of what is now Woodford County were those two great French explorers, Father Marquette and Louis Jolliet. After having discovered the Upper Mississippi River in 1673, they were returning to Quebec by way of the Illinois River when they glimpsed a wooded shoreline that today is the western boundary of Woodford County. With their discovery of the vast wilderness region of interior America, Marquette and Jolliet claimed it for the King of France and thus it became a colony called New France.

One hundred years later, at the close of the French and Indian War, this great domain came into the possession of the British. But by that time the thirteen colonies on the Atlantic seaboard had been firmly established. Then came the American Revolution of 1775-1783. After George Rogers Clark and his handful of American backwoodsmen captured key British military posts in what are now Indiana and Illinois, the new American flag was for the first time raised over what is today the Midwest.

TERRITORIAL DAYS

There followed the formation of the Northwest Territory, so-called because it lay northwest of its original claimant, Virginia. From this territory were later carved the states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin and part of Minnesota. When the Territory of Illinois was created in 1809, future Woodford County was part of St. Clair County, which occupied practically all of the upper part of Illinois Territory

In the years following, land that is now Woodford County lay in a succession of new counties, each of which grew smaller as still newer counties were created. Then, in 1830, when McLean County was organized, future Woodford lay half in that county and half in Tazewell. And this circumstance continued until Woodford was established in 1841.

INDIAN OCCUPATION

In The Past and Present of Woodford County, Illinois, published in 1878, we find these words: "In the early settlement of Woodford County, Indians were quite numerous in the western part, along the Illinois River and in the heavy timbered sections. They were apparently harmless and good natured, rather lazy, and a little disposed sometimes to indulge in petty thieveries. The chief, Black Partridge, had his wigwam not far from the present village of Metamora at one time, though no one now living remembers anything about him but what has been detailed by other parties. The Indians found here by the first white settlers were mostly Pottawatomies, with a few Sacs, Ottawas and Foxes. During the winter of the 'deep snow' (1830-1831), they were, as we were informed, of considerable benefit to the settlers in furnishing them provisions. They donned their snowshoes, and with the aid of this convenience were enabled to get over the vast fields of snow with comparative ease."

Both the Indians described in this old historical work, and other tribes in Illinois, gradually disappeared from the state in the years just after the Black Hawk War of 1832. With the Indians moving westward beyond the Mississippi River, an inrush of white settlers began and thus the upper part of Illinois was opened to civilization.

FIRST SETTLERS

Although a man named Blaylock (either William or George) is known to have been squatting in the region that now is Woodford County as early as 1819, yet he did not remain here permanently nor did he build a cabin or house of any kind. It appears he lived "Indian style" near the Illinois River in present-day Spring Bay Township and that he did considerable fishing and hunting.

Another early settler of the region, William Blanchard, came from Peoria (then a military post called Fort Clark) late in 1819 and raised a crop of corn, potatoes and pumpkins in a clearing just south of where Blaylock was located. But he did not build a log cabin here until 1822; he afterwards said it was the first dwelling built between Peoria and Chicago. As the site of this cabin, however, was about a mile or two below the future south boundary line of Woodford County, William Blanchard cannot be designated the county's first permanent settler.

It would seem that the first permanent settlers of Woodford County were a man named Darby and his wife and three children. Originally from Vermont, Darby arrived in Illinois late in the fall of 1822 and he and his family were given temporary shelter during the succeeding winter in the cabin home of William Blanchard. In telling of this family afterwards, Blanchard said he had forgotten Darby's first name.

Then, in the spring of 1823, Darby went north and built a log cabin for himself and family near the Illinois River on part of what later became the Crocker farm in Spring Bay Township. In the years immediately following, however, members of the Darby family died one by one from malaria and other causes, and none of them were living when Woodford County was organized in 1841.

Two other early settlers who came a few months after Darby built his cabin in 1823 were William Philips and George Kingston, both of whom located in what is now Spring Bay Township. Believed to have arrived about the same time, also, were Daniel Sowards and his two younger brothers, William and Solomon. They settled in the back country at a place called Partridge Point. Here, afterwards, was laid out the village of Hanover, and this village subsequently became the town of Metamora, county seat of Woodford from 1843 to 1896.

ARRIVAL OF THE MENNONITES

Just after the close of the Black Hawk War of 1832, a conflict which resulted in the permanent removal of the Indians from Illinois, there arrived the first Mennonites in the state and these settled in the area that afterwards became Woodford County. Among the earliest families in this religious group were the Engles, Bishops, Nafzigers, Bachmans, Guengeriches, Ropps, Schlegels, Buerkeys and Zehrs. Still standing today and still used for services is the old, white Mennonite Church in the village of Congerville. It was built more than a hundred years ago in an early village called Oak Grove, located about four miles east of Congerville, and in 1889 was moved to Congerville.

"UNCLE TOM" BULLOCK

Generally agreed upon by local historians as the "founding father" of Woodford County is Thomas Bullock, an early settler more familiarly known as "Uncle Tom" Bullock. Says The Past and Present of Woodford County, Illinois, of him: "To him, it may be said, the county owes its existence; he it was who took the initiative steps toward its formation, and he, after the preliminary steps were taken, . . . engineered the project safely through all the forms of 'red tape' in the General Assembly, until it came forth from the 'governmental furnace' a full-fledged county. He has always been an active and enterprising man—foremost in every enterprise intended to promote the welfare of the county in which he takes such lively interest."

FOUNDING OF WOODFORD COUNTY

By the year 1840 enough settlers were residing in the region that became Woodford County (it was then partly in Tazewell and partly in McLean counties) as to form a new county. Although most of these settlers lived on scattered farms, a sizeable number dwelt in the early village of Versailles and in the early settlement of Walnut Grove.

In due time, Thomas Bullock, of the Walnut Grove settlement, had started a movement for the organization of a new county to be formed out of parts of Tazewell and McLean counties. He then went about the countryside obtaining signatures to a petition for county organization. After more than 300 signatures were secured, "Uncle Tom" Bullock brought the petition before the Illinois General Assembly at Springfield.

The petition was granted. There followed the passage of "An Act for the Formation of the County of Woodford." This act was signed by Governor Thomas Carlin (after whom the present Illinois city of Carlinville is named) on February 17, 1841. And thus, on that date, Woodford County was born. An interesting sidelight on the formation of the county is that the document creating it was certified as "a true and perfect copy" by the then Secretary of State, Stephen A. Douglas.

NAMED AFTER KENTUCKY COUNTY

When a name was sought for the new county, "Uncle Tom" Bullock suggested it be called after Woodford County, the Kentucky county, in which he formerly lived. His suggestion was adopted. At that time many residents of the new county, as well as a majority of those in the older counties of the state, were from Kentucky, a circumstance which gave rise to other Kentucky county names for Illinois counties—Henderson, Hardin, Christian, Mason and Scott.

TEMPORARY COUNTY SEAT

In the act creating Woodford County, the state legislature ordered that the early village of Versailles be used as a temporary county seat for a period of two years, at the end of which time a permanent county seat was to be selected. No longer in existence, Versailles was described in its beginning years as "a beautiful and thriving little village." It was in Versailles, then, that the first commissioners of Woodford County met and transacted their business, and here, too, were held the first sessions of the Circuit Court.

FIRST ELECTION

When the ballots were counted on the day Woodford County held its first election, it was found that Joseph Meek, James Boys and Josiah Moore had been elected members of the three-man County Commissioners Court—as the ruling body of counties then was called. Also elected were John J. Perry, county clerk; William S. Magarity, county sheriff; and James S. McCord, county treasurer.

In addition to other business, the county commissioners, at their first meeting in Versailles, divided the county into four election precincts. The first precinct embraced the Bowling Green settlement, the second the Versailles settlement, the third the Partridge settlement (later the site of Metamora), and the fourth the Richland settlement.

GRAND AND PETIT JURORS

A glance at Woodford County's first grand and petit jurors of the Circuit Court (at that time Woodford County was on the Eighth Judicial Circuit, which was to be made famous by one of its lawyers, Abraham Lincoln) will give some idea of who the county's earliest settlers were and their standing in the community.

Named to the county's first grand jury were John Page, Sr., Thomas A. McCord, John Mohr, S. Y. Barnard, Reubin Carlock, H. J. Clark, James Findley, David Travis, Elijah Dickinson, Caleb Davidson, Ellis Parker, William Dodd, Parker Morse, Sr., William Dodd, James Owens, John C. Coons, Joseph Wilkerson, George Bennett and Jesse Hammers.

The following were named to the county's first petit jury: Wesley Arnold, Jacob Stevenson, William Long, William Willis, James A. Whorton, Thomas H. Baker, John P. Beatty, Thomas Bullock, Benjamin J. Radford, M. R. Bullock, David Deweese, James Wells, James Brown, Cooley Curtiss, Francis Boggs, Andrew Galbraith, Solomon Tucker, Aaron Richardson, Samuel Arnold, William S. Pratt, Norman Dutton, George Kingston, C. D. Banta and A. A. Brown.

METAMORA BECOMES COUNTY SEAT

Although "Uncle Tom" Bullock made a brave attempt to have Versailles designated permanent seat of justice for the county, that honor went to the then new town of Hanover, soon to be re-named Metamora. After Versailles served as temporary seat for two years, a board of five commissioners from outside the county was appointed by the state legislature to select a permanent county seat for Woodford. A member of that board was John H. Bryant of Bureau County, brother of the celebrated American poet, William Cullen Bryant.

Bryant, as well as a majority of the commissioners, voted in favor of Hanover as a permanent county seat. This town was laid out in 1836, before Woodford County was organized, by a group called the Hanover Company which acquired some 12,000 acres in the vicinity. When Hanover became county seat in 1843, its name was changed to Metamora at the suggestion of Mrs. Peter H. Willard, wife of a prominent merchant.

Metamora was to remain county seat for more than fifty years afterwards. It lost this title in 1896, however, when Eureka was named county seat. After Metamora (or Hanover) was platted in 1836, the first house was built by John W. Page and the first tavern was erected by Samuel S. Parks (who opened it, we are told, immediately after Hanover became county seat).

FIRST PERMANENT COURTHOUSE

It was in 1845 that Woodford County's first permanent courthouse was completed at Metamora. Still standing today but no longer a courthouse, this building, now owned by the State of Illinois, is one of the state's most important historical and architectural shrines. It is visited annually by tourists from all parts of Illinois and other nearby states.

What brings most of these tourists is the building's association with Abraham Lincoln. It is one of the few surviving county courthouses in Illinois whose walls re-echoed to the slow, drawling voice of the man who now is immortalized as the Great Emancipator. When Lincoln, as a lawyer, traveled the Eighth Judicial Circuit, he was often at the Woodford County Courthouse in Metamora as the county was then on that circuit.

Other famous lawyers and judges who traveled on that circuit, or who frequently appeared in the county seat town of Metamora, were Stephen A. Douglas, David Davis, Robert Ingersoll, Samuel H. Treat and Adlai E. Stevenson the Elder. The building in which they tried their cases is a two-story edifice of brick construction designed in the Greek Revival style of architecture. Today, the second floor of the old courthouse contains exhibits of the Woodford County Historical Society.

ADLAI E. STEVENSON THE ELDER

A young lawyer who first began the practice of law in the courthouse at Metamora was Adlai E. Stevenson, afterwards to become Vice President of the United States and grandfather of the present Adlai E. Stevenson, Democratic candidate for President in 1952. Born in Christian County, Kentucky, in 1835, the first Adlai Stevenson studied at Center College, read law, and then came to Metamora and opened a law office.

Later he took up the practice of law in Bloomington, served in Congress almost continuously from 1875 to 1881, was appointed first assistant Postmaster-General by President Cleveland, and in 1893 was elected Vice President when Cleveland won his second term in the White House. In 1908 he was the unsuccessful Democratic candidate for governor of Illinois. The former Vice President died in 1914.

TOWNSHIP ORGANIZATION

When Illinois was admitted to statehood in 1818, most of its population lived in the lower part of the state. As the majority of these residents were Southerners, they introduced into the new state a characteristically Southern governmental subdivision—the county. This type of subdivision had its origin in Virginia, where the early estate-owners based it on the old English form of county.

With the opening of the Erie Canal in 1825, however, more and more New Englanders and residents of the Atlantic seaboard states came westward and settled in the upper part of Illinois. And they brought with them a characteristically Northern governmental subdivision—the township. And thus it came about that, in the middle of the nineteenth century, the Illinois state legislature made it possible for voters to decide whether or not they wanted township organization within their respective counties.

When this question was submitted to the electorate of Woodford County in 1855, a majority of its citizens voted in favor of the township plan. There followed the organization of the county into the seventeen townships we know today, most of which are six miles square. These townships are Cazenovia, Clayton, Cruger, El Paso, Greene, Kansas, Linn, Metamora, Minonk, Montgomery, Olio, Palestine, Panola, Partridge, Roanoke, Spring Bay and Worth.

EUREKA COLLEGE

At the southeastern edge of Eureka city, on a twenty-acre landscaped campus, stand today the five red brick buildings of Eureka College, a co-educational institution founded a century ago and the first college in Illinois to admit men and women on an equal basis. The college was chartered in 1855 and was an outgrowth of a seminary established here in 1848 by Professor A. S. Fisher, pioneer settler who taught the first permanent school in Eureka city. Professor Fisher's seminary was sponsored by the Disciples of Christ, followers of the religious leader, Alexander Campbell.

LINCOLN SPEAKS AT METAMORA

Just south of Metamora, in a locust grove, may be found an historical tablet which explains that Abraham Lincoln spoke here in 1858. This was during the famous Illinois senatorial campaign of that year when Lincoln sought, unsuccessfully, to unseat Senator Stephen A. Douglas, often called the "Little Giant."

It was at 8 o'clock on the morning of October 4, 1858, that the tall Springfield lawyer, who then was beardless, arrived at the ferry landing opposite Peoria and took a stagecoach for Metamora, in Woodford County. After traveling by way of Little Detroit and Spring Bay, the Lincoln coach came in due time to Metamora and was welcomed by a crowd of Lincoln supporters.

Although the Woodford County Circuit Court was in session that day, it adjourned in the afternoon so that its members could hear Lincoln speak in the locust grove just south of town. At the end of his address, Lincoln began the return journey to Peoria. After an overnight stop in Peoria, he went on by steamboat to Pekin where he addressed another meeting.

But this was not Lincoln's first speech in Woodford County during that celebrated senatorial campaign of 1858. A little over a month earlier (August 28th) he arrived in El Paso city on an afternoon Illinois Central train and delivered a brief address to the populace. A local newspaper noted the visit in these words: "Old Abe was here for an hour on Saturday, en route for Peoria. We soon gathered a crowd around him, and he answered and set at rest the foul aspersions that Douglas and his followers are with such bold effrontery passing current through the land."

LINCOLN LUNCHES WITH BARON CHLOPICKI

On the occasion of this brief visit to El Paso city, Lincoln, we are told, had time enough to have a quick lunch at the restaurant conducted by Baron Louis Chlopicki, a unique character in the annals of Woodford County history. He is referred to variously as Baron Chlopicki and Count Clopiska. In The Past and Present of Woodford County, Illinois (1878), this gentleman is described thus: "Count Clopiska, a native of Poland, who, for some state or political offense was expatriated from his native land, came to the United States, and to Illinois, and for several years lived in the city of El Paso."

The description continues: "He was a fine type of the polished gentleman, and his misfortunes were a key to the warm hearts of the American people. The citizens of El Paso took a strong interest in his welfare, and when he died, 'a stranger in a strange land,' with no loved one nigh to smooth his dying pillow or wipe the cold, damp dews from his paling brow, Mr. W. M. Jenkins, an old and honored citizen of El Paso, had him neatly interred in his own lot in the city cemetery, where the distinguished old foreigner sleeps as peacefully, perhaps, as if he slumbered in the marble vaults of his ancestors."

SENATOR DOUGLAS IN WOODFORD COUNTY

About a month after Lincoln delivered the short address in El Paso city, his energetic little opponent, Senator Douglas, arrived in Woodford County and talked to a large gathering in Metamora. After speaking earlier that day in Washington city (Tazewell County), the senator was driven in a carriage six miles northward to Metamora. On his arrival, Senator Douglas was welcomed by some 5,000 citizens of Woodford County, many of whom carried flags or rode in decorated wagons. A local newspaper said of the meeting: "Douglas' speech at Metamora was a clincher. It will long be remembered." That evening, Senator Douglas returned to Peoria.

THE CIVIL WAR

When President Lincoln sent out his urgent call for 70,000 volunteers following the outbreak of the Civil War in 1861, Woodford County quickly responded with more than its quota of men and money for the Union cause. Many of its male citizens went to Peoria and Bloomington and enlisted in the Union army. As a result, they were accredited to those cities rather than to Woodford County. So far as can be determined, the county contributed at least 1,500 men to the Union ranks during the conflict. Some of the outstanding officers from Woodford County were Colonel Meek, Major Sidwell, Captains Bullock and McCulloch, and Lieutenants Briggs and Davidson. Among leading medical officers were Doctors Whitmire and Kinnear of Metamora, Doctor Conover of Eureka, and Doctors Stockwell and Cole of El Paso.

EUREKA BECOMES COUNTY SEAT

After serving as Woodford County's seat of justice for more than fifty years, Metamora lost this title to Eureka city in 1896. At that time Eureka was a booming commercial and shipping center and its Eureka College was one of the best known educational institutions in Illinois. In due course a new county courthouse was built at Eureka. Still standing and still in use, the Woodford County Courthouse is an imposing stone edifice of four stories surmounted by an ornate clock tower. It is set in the midst of an attractive, tree-shaded Public Square in Eureka's central business district.

MENNONITE HOME FOR THE AGED

An outstanding institution in Woodford County today is the Mennonite Home For the Aged. It is located at the northern outskirts of Eureka city on a tract of land partly devoted to farming. The main building here is a three-story structure of brown brick construction with numerous porches. It was built in 1922 by the Mennonite Conference for the care of aged members of the sect. The first group of Mennonites came to Woodford County as early as 1833. Still in use today is the old Mennonite Church at Congerville, built more than a hundred years ago.

HUNTING AND FISHING GROUNDS

Of particular interest to sportsmen in all parts of Illinois is the Woodford

County Public Hunting and Fishing Grounds, located at the north end of Peoria Lake (an enlargement of the Illinois River at this point). This reservation occupies an area of almost 3,000 acres and is annually visited by hundreds of fishermen and hunters from Chicago and other cities.

EUREKA COLLEGE LIBRARY

One of the largest libraries in this part of the state is the Eureka College Library at Eureka city. It contains some 30,000 volumes, including special collections in the field of religion. Here, also, are special collections of records and films. At present (1955) the librarian is Mrs. Alma Tool Steider. This library was started when Eureka College was chartered a century ago, and, in the years following, has expanded steadily with the growth of the college.

WOODFORD COUNTY JOURNAL

Leading newspaper of the county today is the Woodford County Journal, an independent publication issued each Tuesday at Eureka city. It has a circulation of 1,226. At present the publisher of the paper is Burrus Dickinson and its editor is Robert Westphal. The Woodford County Journal was founded in 1867 as the Woodford Journal, its founder having been John W. Karr. In 1874 it was purchased by R. W. Radford, who greatly increased its standing and circulation.

WOODFORD COUNTY TODAY

A statistical profile of Woodford County, based on latest United States census returns, shows that in 1950 the county had a total population of 21,335—which placed it 1,358th in population rank among the 3,103 counties of the United States. Its 1950 population was 11.6 per cent higher than its 1940 population. The county's principal city and seat of justice, Eureka, had a population of 2,367.

Occupying a land area of 537 square miles, the county's density of population was 40 inhabitants per square mile. None of its residents were classified as urban dwellers, but 13,775 were classified as rural non-farm dwellers (residents of towns, villages and country places) and 7,560 were classified as rural farm dwellers. The county then had 2,399 infants under five years of age, 2,242 persons sixty-five years old and over, and the median age of the population was given as 30.8 years. There were 1,475 residents living outside the county, or abroad, in 1949. The potential number of voters in 1950 (citizens twenty-one years old and over) was 13,560.

Under the heading of vital statistics, Woodford County in 1950 had 518 births, 202 deaths (including 16 infants), and 185 marriages.

There were then a total of 5,313 families in the county (two or more persons related by marriage or blood), and the median income of all of these families was $3,203. More than 21 per cent had incomes of less than $2,000 while 19.9 per cent had incomes of $5,000 or more.

In the field of education, the county in 1950 had a total of 3,520 young persons between the ages of seven and seventeen years (school age). Of the 2,260 between the ages of seven and thirteen years (primary school age), 97.0 per cent were enrolled in schools, and of those between the ages of fourteen and seventeen years (high school age), 91.6 per cent were enrolled in high schools. Of all persons in the county twenty-five years old and over, it was found that the median number of school years they completed was 8.9. It was also found that 5.1 per cent completed less than five grades, while 34.2 per cent completed both primary and high school grades. The institutional population of the county in 1950 (inmates of homes for dependent and delinquent children, prisons, mental hospitals, etc.) was 112.

In that same year, the county had a total potential labor force (persons fourteen years old and over) of 15,819. Of this total, however, 7,773 were actually employed (79.8 per cent of whom were males and 18.9 per cent females). Within the employed group were 2,333 engaged in agriculture, 1,576 in manufacturing, 1,256 in wholesale and retail trade, 574 in professional and related services, 494 in construction, 379 in transportation, communication and other public utilities, 347 in business and personal services, and 33 in mining. The labor figures were summed up by showing that 30.5 per cent of the total employed were engaged in agriculture while 20.6 per cent were engaged in manufacturing.

Whereas in 1940 the county had a total of 5,488 dwelling units, in 1950 it had a total of 6,546. The median number of rooms per unit was 5.8. More than 89 per cent were one-dwelling unit detached structures (including occupied trailers), 19.1 per cent were built in 1940 or later, and 56.1 per cent had hot running water and private toilet and bath. The figures also showed that 65.7 per cent were owner-occupied, 58.4 per cent had central heating, 92.6 per cent had mechanical refrigerators, and 97.0 per cent had radios. There were 4,437 classified as non-farm . . . dwelling units, and the median value of all of these was given as $7,057. The median gross monthly rental in renter-occupied houses was given as $42.88.

In 1948, when the last business census was taken, Woodford County had 281 retail stores which grossed $18,132,000 in sales and which employed 798 persons. The largest group in this category were food stores, 61, which grossed $3,758,000 in sales. The next largest were eating and drinking places, 53, which grossed $1,477,000 in sales. In the wholesale field, the county had 39 wholesale establishments which grossed $15,096,000 in sales and which employed 191 persons. There were 61 personal, business and service establishments which had total receipts of $510,000 and which employed 42 persons.

On the basis of the last (1947) manufacturing census, there were 22 manufacturing establishments in the county which turned out goods and materials in the amount of $1,481,000.

As we have seen, Woodford is primarily an agricultural county. In 1950 it had a total of 1,787 farms, of which 1,640 were classified as commercial farms. More than 44 per cent of all farms were operated by tenants. The average value of land and buildings per farm for all farms was given as $50,102. In 1949, four years after the close of World War II, the value of all farm products sold (livestock, crops, poultry, dairy products) was $16,113,000. Farm expenditures that same year were $1,449,000 for livestock and poultry feed and $494,000 for hired labor. Total bank deposits in the county in 1950 amounted to $15,995,000.

EUREKA

For a description of Eureka, only community in Olio Township, see opening chapter of this section "City of Eureka." At the present time, Olio Township has a total population of 3,086. Among the earliest settlers of the township were William P. Atteberry, Charles, John A. and Campbell Moore, Caleb and William Davidson, John Dowdy, John Summers and Matthew Bracken. Practically all of them came in the early 1830's.

A pioneer settlement in the township was Walnut Grove. One of the most prominent citizens of Walnut Grove was Thomas Bullock, who arrived in 1835. Familiarly known as "Uncle Tom" Bullock, he is regarded by local historians as the founder of Woodford County. Bullock came from Woodford County, Kentucky, and it was he who bestowed the name of the Kentucky county on the Illinois county.

WASHBURN

On the northern edge of Woodford County lies the incorporated village of Washburn, with a total population of 999. Part of the village (67 inhabitants) is located in adjoining Marshall County. Washburn is situated on the Gulf, Mobile & Ohio Railroad and on State 89. In addition to numerous retail stores and service establishments, the village contains a postoffice, banking facilities and a branch of the Railway Express Agency.

Washburn is the principal community in Cazenovia Township, with a total population of 1,787. First settlers of the township were a man named Hubbard and his son-in-law, who arrived in the spring of 1832.

LOW POINT

Another community in Cazenovia Township is the village of Low Point, with a population of 250. It is located on the Gulf, Mobile & Ohio Railroad and adjacent to State 89. The village was laid out in 1871 and derived its name from a grove of timber here that was slightly lower than the surrounding woodlands.

CAZENOVIA

Still another community in Cazenovia Township is the village of Cazenovia, with a population of 127. It, also, is on the Gulf, Mobile & Ohio Railroad and on State 89. The village was laid out in 1870 by E. N. Farnsworth and W. O. Hammers.

EL PASO

Third largest city of Woodford County is El Paso, located at the eastern border of the county on the Illinois Central Railroad and at the junction of US highways 24 and 51. It has a population of 1,818. In addition to numerous retail stores and service establishments, the city's central business district contains a postoffice, banking facilities and a branch of the Railway Express Agency.

First house in the city was built by Thomas McClellan and the first business house was opened by William M. Jenkins. The township in which El Paso is located has a present population of 2,307. Believed to have been the first settlers of the township were the Hibbs brothers, William, John and David.

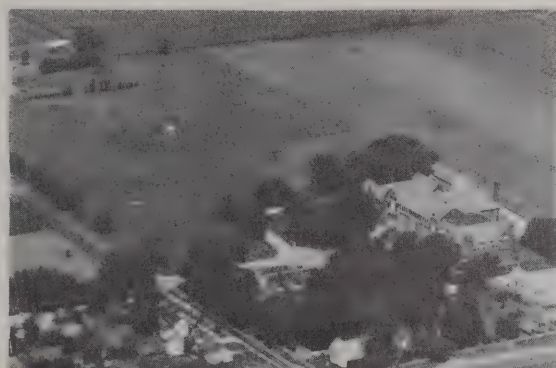

KAPPA

METAMORA

Outstanding sight of the former county seat town of Metamora is the old Metamora Courthouse, which now is an historical shrine owned and maintained by the State of Illinois. Built in 1845, this two-story, classic style edifice was the gathering place of such prominent lawyers and judges of the time as Abraham Lincoln, Stephen A. Douglas, David Davis, Samuel Treat, Robert Ingersoll and Adlai E. Stevenson the Elder. In the second floor of the old courthouse are exhibits of the Woodford County Historical Society.

Metamora was laid out in 1836 by a group called the Hanover Company and at first was called Hanover. This name was changed to the present one after Metamora became county seat in 1843. It remained county seat until 1896, when Eureka became the seat of justice. The name "Metamora," it is said, was suggested by Mrs. Peter H. Willard, wife of one of the earliest merchants of the town.

At the present time, Metamora has a population of 1,368. It is located on the Gulf, Mobile & Ohio Railroad and at the junction of state highways 89 and 116. It is the only community in Metamora Township, which has a total population of 2,006. First settlers of the township are believed to have been Daniel, William and Solomon Sowards, who came in 1823 or 1824.

EUREKA

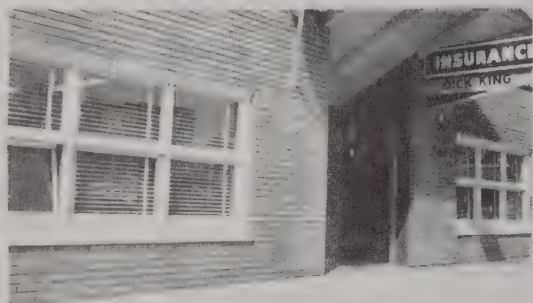

For a description of Eureka, only community in Olio Township, see opening chapter of this section "City of Eureka." At the present time, Olio Township has a total population of 3,086. Among the earliest settlers of the township were William P. Atteberry, Charles, John A. and Campbell Moore, Caleb and William Davidson, John Dowdy, John Summers and Matthew Bracken. Practically all of them came in the early 1830's.

A pioneer settlement in the township was Walnut Grove. One of the most prominent citizens of Walnut Grove was Thomas Bullock, who arrived in 1835. Familiarly known as "Uncle Tom" Bullock, he is regarded by local historians as the founder of Woodford County. Bullock came from Woodford County, Kentucky, and it was he who bestowed the name of the Kentucky county on the Illinois county.

Secor village, located in the fertile farming area east of Eureka, was established in 1869 by Isaac Underhill, early settler. Its population today is 375. The village is situated on the Toledo, Peoria & Western Railroad and adjacent to US 24. It is the only community in Palestine Township, which has a total population of 882. One of the earliest settlers of the township was Francis M. Willis, who came from Kentucky about 1831 and who afterwards founded the pioneer village of Bowling Green, which no longer is in existence. One of the first mills in Woodford County was built in Palestine Township by Charles Moore, who arrived in 1835.

ROANOKE

Laid out in 1873 after the first railroad was built through the area, the incorporated village of Roanoke today has a population of 1,368—the same as Metamora. It is located east of Metamora on the Atcheson, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad and on State 116. The village has numerous retail stores, service establishments, banking facilities and a postoffice. At the present time (1954), Roanoke's village president is Melvin Ladendorf and its clerk is L. H. Pruvost.

This village is the only community in Roanoke Township, with a total population of 2,062. The township was first settled in 1832 by Jacob Stephenson, who came from Kentucky. He was followed soon afterwards by J. W. Ewing, another Kentuckian. The township was organized in 1855 and named after Roanoke County, Virginia, on the suggestion of an early settler, John Gish, who came from Roanoke County.

SPRING BAY

It was in the vicinity of Spring Bay village, on the Illinois River, that the earliest settlers of Woodford County built log cabins and paved the way for later development of the county. Although a man named Blaylock is believed to have been the first settler of the county, he did not remain long nor did he build a permanent home. Among the earliest who erected permanent cabin homes here were William Blanchard, a man named Darby, William Philips and George Kingston.

Spring Bay village was laid out in 1838 on land originally owned by Jacob Woodstock, an early settler. Today, the village has a population of 203. It is served by the postoffice at Peoria. This village is the principal community of Spring Bay Township, which has a total population of 649. The township was organized in 1855. An interesting landmark of the township is the old Eichhorn Cavern, constructed in 1850 by Peter Eichhorn and used as part of his brewery. The cave is now owned by his son, Dr. H. G. Eichhorn, a well-known Peoria physician.

BAY VIEW GARDEN

Only other community of Spring Bay Township is Bay View Garden, located south of Spring Bay village on State 87. West of it lies Lake Peoria (an enlargement of the Illinois River).

GERMANTOWN

So-called because of its original Teutonic settlers, Germantown today has a population of 300. It is located in the farming area southwest of Metamora and through it passes State 116. The village was established more than a hundred years ago on land owned by William Hoshor, who at an early date built a wayside inn, the Germantown House. An old description of the village says: "It consists of a tavern, a lager beer saloon and grocery store, a blacksmith shop and a saw mill, and is on the State Road, about six miles from Metamora."

Germantown is the only community in Worth Township, with a total population of 1,422. One of the earliest settlers of the township was the Reverend Zadock Hall, a Methodist preacher. He arrived in 1831. Jacob Schertz was among the earliest of the German settlers in the township, arriving in 1833. A Catholic church was organized by the German Catholics here as early as 1837.

THE ILLINOIS STATE FLAG

STATE FLAG OF ILLINOIS

ILLINOIS' STATE FLAG was officially adopted on July 6, 1915, after a vigorous campaign by Mrs. Ella Park Lawrence, State Regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Early in 1912, Mrs. Lawrence began visiting local D. A. R. chapters throughout Illinois seeking cooperation in promoting selection of an official State banner to place in the Continental Memorial Hall in Washington, D. C. In 1913, Mrs. Lawrence offered a prize of $25.00 to the Illinois D. A. R. chapter submitting the best design for the banner. She also wrote to members of the General Assembly seeking their cooperation.

Four judges were then selected to choose the winning design. Thirty-five designs were submitted and the Rockford Chapter entry was chosen as Illinois' future emblem.

State Senator Raymond D. Meeker introduced the bill which was to legalize the flag. After passage in the Senate it was pushed through the House of Representatives, despite an overcrowded calendar.

The measure automatically became a law July 6, 1915, when the Governor failed to affix his signature to the bill.

The first official flag, made in Washington, D. C., was three by five feet in size, of white silk. Flags were given by Mrs. Lawrence to Secretary of State; Daughters of the American Revolution in Illinois; National Society Daughters of the American Revolution in Illinois; National Society Daughters of the American Revolution (to hang in Memorial Continental Hall, Washington, D. C.); Rebecca Parke Chapter, Galesburg and the Illinois State Historical Society.

Visitors to Springfield cannot fail to notice the State Banner flanking the Stars and Stripes in the Rotunda at the State House. In the same juxtaposition it appears in the office of the Secretary of State. It is flown on ceremonial days by numerous patriotic bodies throughout the State. For officials and the public alike it stands as a reminder of our greatness as a State and our pride in our membership in the United States of America.

WILLIAM G. STRATTON

To estimate the number of plants required for an acre at any given distance, multiply the distance between the rows by the distance between the plants, which will give the number of square feet allotted to each plant and divide the number of square feet in an acre (43,560) by this number. The quotient will be the number of plants required.

GRAIN MEASURE.

To find the capacity of a Bin or Wagon-bed; multiply the cubic feet by 8 (tenths). For great accuracy, add ½ of a bushel for every 100 cubic feet.

To find the cubic ft., multiply the length, width and depth together.

Find the capacity of a Bin 4 ft. wide, 5 ft. deep, and 15 ft. long.

To get the exact answer 1 bu. is added for the 300 cubic ft.

$$4 \times 5 \times 15 = 300 \text{ cubic ft.}$$

Ans. 240.0 bus.

$$240 + 1 = 241 \text{ bus. exact ans.}$$

How many bus. will a Wagon-bed hold, 10 ft. long, 3 ft. wide, 18 in. or 1½ ft. deep?

~~10~~ A Bed 10 ft. long, 3 ft. wide will hold 2 bu. for every in. in depth.

$$1 \frac{1}{2} \times 3 \times 10 = 45 \text{ cubic feet}$$

.8

Ans. 36.0 bus.

EAR CORN MEASURE.

To find the contents of a Corn crib; multiply the cubic feet by 4 and divide the product by 9*.

Find the contents of a Corn crib 18 ft. long, 7 ft. wide and 8 ft. high.

*NOTE—This allows 2¼ cubic ft. for a bu. It is the rule most generally used, and will hold out in ordinary good corn, even if measured at the time it is cribbed.

$$7 \times 8 \times 18 = 1008 \text{ cubic feet}$$

Ans. 448 bus.

TWO SIMPLE RULES FOR FINDING THE CAPACITY OF ROUND BINS, IN BUSHELS.

Where the dimensions measure exactly in feet; multiply the diameter by the diameter, multiply by the depth, multiply by .63.

Where the dimensions measure in inches; multiply the diameter by the diameter, multiply by the depth, multiply by .000365.

TO FIND THE QUANTITY OF GRAIN WHEN HEAPED ON THE FLOOR IN THE FORM OF A CONE.

Square the depth and square the slant height, in inches. Take their difference and multiply by the depth, in inches. Multiply this product by .00048. The result will be the contents, in bushels.

TO FIND THE QUANTITY OF GRAIN WHEN HEAPED AGAINST A STRAIGHT WALL.

Square one-half of the depth and proceed as in the previous rule.

"DON'TS" IN THE USE OF THE FLAG

The conference called at Washington in June, 1923, to draw up a code covering proper civil usage of the flag, adopted the following list of things to avoid:

1. Do not dip the flag of the United States to any person or any thing. The regimental color, State flag, organization or institutional flag, will render this honor. At sea the flag may be dipped in acknowledgment of the salute of the flag of another nation.
2. Do not display the flag of the United States with the Union down except as a signal of distress.
3. Do not place any other flag or pennant above or to the right of the flag.
4. Do not let the flag of the United States touch the ground or tail in the water.
5. Do not place any object or emblem of any kind on or above the flag of the United States.
6. Do not use the flag as drapery.
7. Do not fasten the flag in such manner as will permit it to be easily torn.
8. Do not drape the flag over the top or sides of a vehicle, train or boat.
9. Do not use the flag to drape over front of a platform or over chairs or benches.
10. Do not display the flag on a float in a parade except on a staff.
11. Do not use the flag as a ceiling covering.
12. Do not use the flag of the United States as a portion of a costume.
13. Do not put lettering upon the flag.
14. Do not use the flag in any advertising.
15. Do not use the flag in such a manner as to cause it to be soiled or damaged.

RULES FOR COMPUTING INTEREST

The following is an approximate way to estimate the interest on any principal for any number of days. When the principal contains cents, mark off four places from the right of the result to express the interest in dollars and cents. When the principal contains dollars only, mark off two places.

2%—Multiply the principal by the number of days to run, and divide by 180.

4%—Multiply the principal by the number of days to run and divide by 90.

5%—Multiply by number of days and divide by 72.

6%—Multiply by number of days and divide by 60.

7%—Multiply by number of days and divide by 52.

8%—Multiply by number of days and divide by 45.

9%—Multiply by number of days and divide by 40.

10%—Multiply by number of days and divide by 36.

12%—Multiply by number of days and divide by 30.

15%—Multiply by number of days and divide by 24.
